

Azureus -

Temperatures of 70-80° F during the day with drops as low as 65° F at night are recommended

Azureus are a large bold group of frogs. At least a 10 gal tank is recommended for a pair but a larger tank is better. These large frogs will spend the days exploring the tank and hunting for food.

Care must be taken as to not house mature females together as they will show aggression towards one another. Multiple males may be housed together.

The call of the males is a very low buzzing noise and may not be heard outside the tank. Some males can be distinguished by the size of their toe pads. Males have much larger toe pads than females.

It is important to keep different morphs separate and not to allow mixed breeding.
